For Immediate Release

IMC to Support Air Force Enterprise Environmental Safety and Occupational Health Management Information System

Dulles, VA, 30 Apr 2020 – Innovative Management Concepts, Inc. \(IMC\), an information technology services and solutions provider, has been awarded a five-year task order to support the Air Force Material Command, Enterprise Environmental Safety and Occupational Health organization by providing the Development Security Operations (DevSecOps) continuous capability development/sustainment (CCD/S) support necessary to maintain and enhance the fielded baselines (software, technical, and online repositories), help desk Tier I, II, and III services, and data stewarding activities necessary to sustain the Enterprise Environmental Safety and Occupational Health Management Information System (EESOH-MIS) application and support EESOH-MIS stakeholders. The EESOH system helps organizations manage risks and costs associated with environmental, health and safety issues. EESOH-MIS support the Air Force, the Navy, and the Coast Guard. The task order is a competitive award under the General Services Administration’s VETS2 Governmentwide Acquisition Contract (GWAC). The period of performance began on 28 April 2020.

In this project, IMC leverages the benefits of agile principles and processes found in the Scaled Agile Framework (SAFe) to significantly improve responsiveness to customer priorities, burn down existing requirements backlog, and deliver value to users in a timely, efficient, and effective manner through independently viable releases. IMC provides auditability, security, regulatory compliance, transparency, and production efficiency while performing the EESOH-MIS services.

IMC is supported in this effort by our partner Array Information Technology, a strong Air Force contractor with significant Agile development experience. Together we are committed to supporting the Air Force in managing risks of exposure to environmental and occupational factors through our support for the EESOH-MIS.
